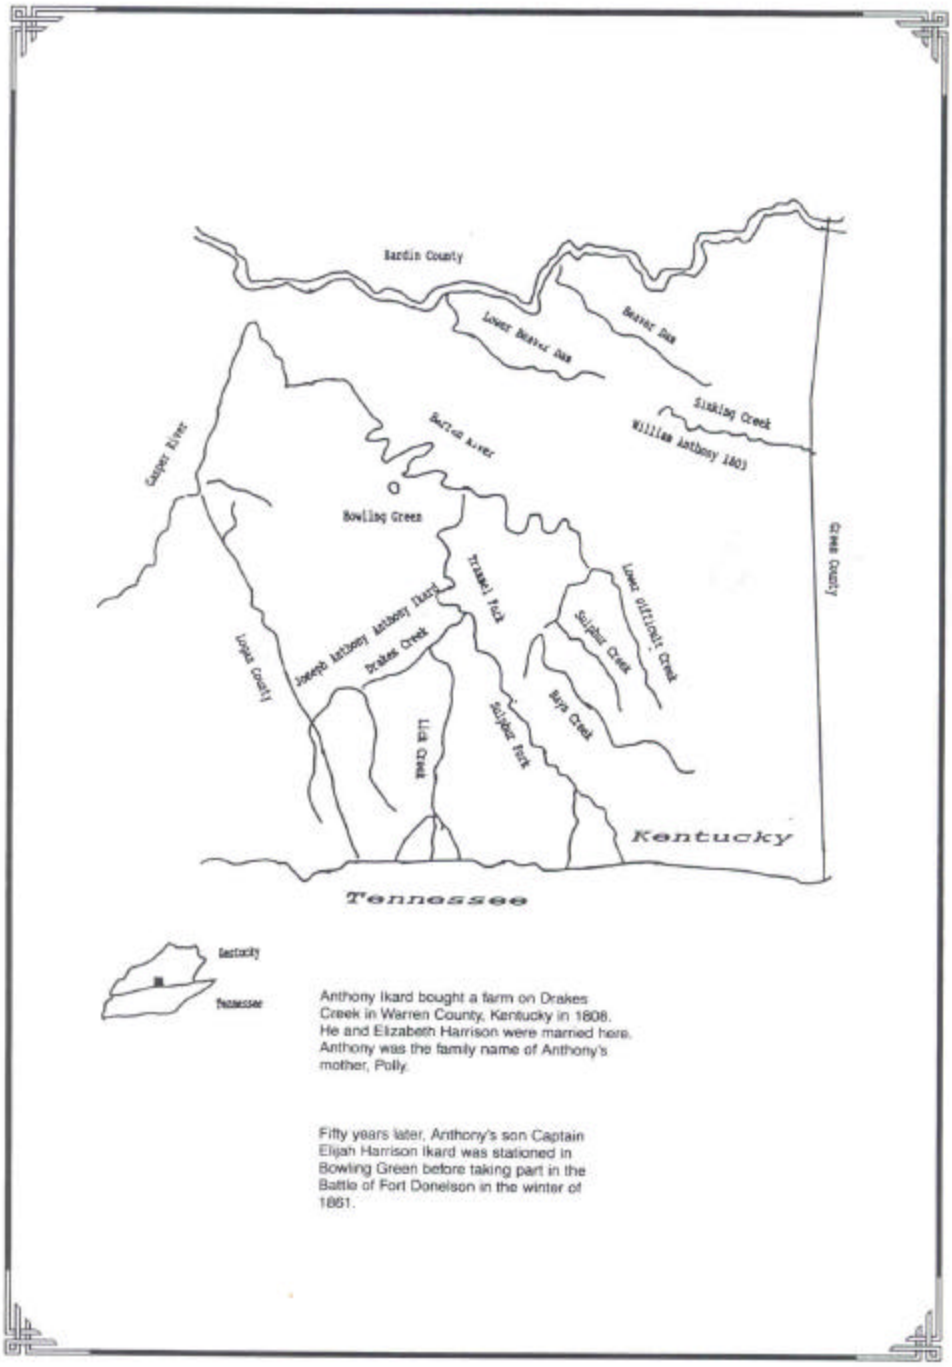
Anthony's Place in Kentucky

Anthony's Place in Kentucky



Anthony Ikard bought a farm on Drakes Creek in Warren County, Kentucky in 1808. He and Elizabeth Harrison were married here. Anthony was the family name of Anthony's mother, Polly.

Fifty years later, Anthony's son Captain Elijah Harrison Ikard was stationed in Bowling Green before taking part in the Battle of Fort Donelson in the winter of 1861.

Copyright 1995 by Mildred Ikard Bourgeois. All rights reserved. No part of this book may be reproduced in any form without permission from the author except that the author grants permission to Ikard family members to print copies of this book for their personal use.